MaxKnowledge and FAPSC Launch New Online Course: Admissions Compliance Training for Florida Career Institutions

Miami, FL, July 29, 2009 - MaxKnowledge and the Florida Association of Postsecondary Schools & Colleges (FAPSC) unveiled today a new online training course at the FAPSC 2009 Annual Conference.

Admissions Compliance Training for Florida Career Institutions

Among the many responsibilities of successful admissions personnel is to work effectively in a highly regulatory and compliant environment. The purpose of this course is three-fold. First, it provides you with regulatory information and best practices to remain in compliance. Second, the course covers methods to help you learn your institution's organizational structure, policies, procedures, educational programs and services. Third, it includes ways for you to keep up-to-date about institutional and regulatory matters.

This course is approved by the Florida Commission for Independent Education and is highly recommended for all new and current admissions personnel. Admissions Directors: This course meets 4 hours of your annual continuing education requirements. Admissions Agents: This course is an approved training program pursuant to Florida Administrative Code - Section 6E-2.010(2).

The facilitated online course is delivered in an asynchronous fashion is available on a continuous enrollment basis on the FAPSC Online Training Center. For more information, visit:
